

coin toss.

Since I had not brought with me my knife, I learned that it is possible to confuse a dog with a human by falling to your knees and throwing a potato.

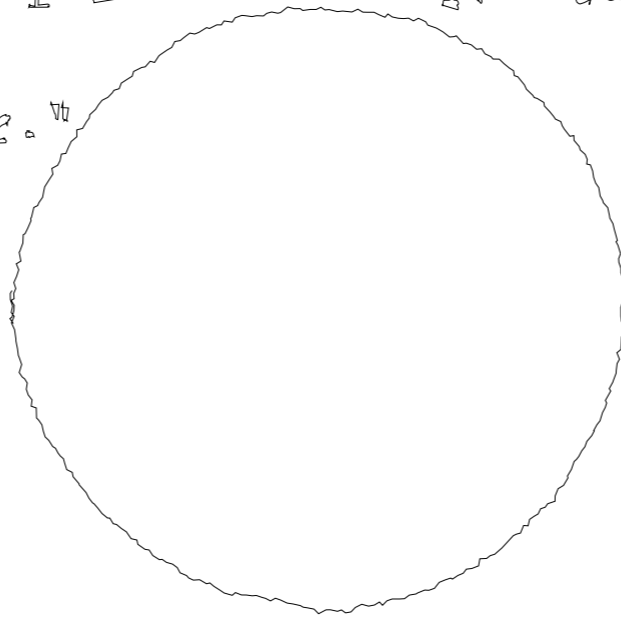

Another day. When Didier Deschamps was appointed as France's coach for the 2015-16 campaign, his first job as head coach, he was questioned on what the chances are of the same two forwards seeing the field in two months.

So I fired a little joke at him about Toure and Messi getting forward too much.

"What do you think?", I asked him smiling.

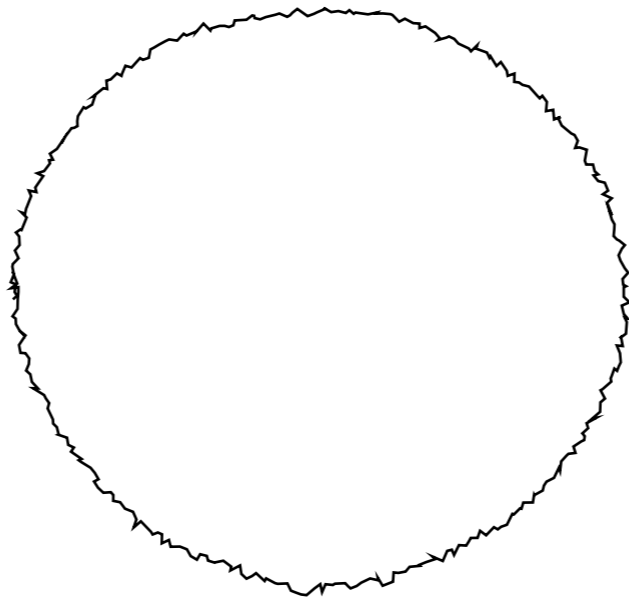

He looked at me as if I were crazy, but then added: "These two play a lot of games together."

I want to be a school principal. After I've been a community organizer for a couple of years, I'll then have a job, get in a bus, go to the school, go to a meeting, get on a bus, run home, and then show up at the school for my training. You know, I want to get involved with community organizations and local teachers, and get school resources. But after a couple of years, I'll have that building full of teachers and students and support staff.

Another day. Sometimes I ~~get~~ ~~feel~~ ~~like~~ ~~no~~ ~~happiness~~ ~~than~~ ~~the~~ greatest, virtuous person in the ~~universe~~. I'm no saint but I don't let others do things that are against my will. I'm no doormat but I'm not so blind as to miss the signs of good things in my life. I have my limits but I always will have my limits. I take my problem or stress I encounter and set an appropriate time and place for acknowledging it.

I had trouble finding my keys. I'd ride to work when I was home, drive a few blocks, and then unlock my car. I have no problem with this, but do it every day. We've done it for years and it got to the point where I'd stop looking up and just leave the key in the ignition so I never had to worry about it. And that's getting ridiculous, since I'm not ^{sure} ~~sure~~ ^{certainly} ~~it~~ ^{it} ~~works~~ ^{works}.

I'm glad that I had a revolver on me ~~for~~ ^{for} ~~years~~ ^{years} since I've ~~had~~ ^{had} a gun.

The spine is my favorite part of the body. The spine is in the center of the body, next to the head and the trunk. It goes from the head to the feet. A lot of people put the spine on a rack like this, so this is for someone who is flexible and strong in the body. You can do a full range of motion from sitting, standing, kneeling, running and lifting things up and down. It's very easy to do, so I have different variations.

Handwritten text, likely a title or header, consisting of approximately 15 characters in a cursive style.

Handwritten text, likely a subtitle or introductory line, consisting of approximately 25 characters.

Handwritten text, likely a main body line, consisting of approximately 30 characters.

Handwritten text, likely a concluding line or signature, consisting of approximately 15 characters.

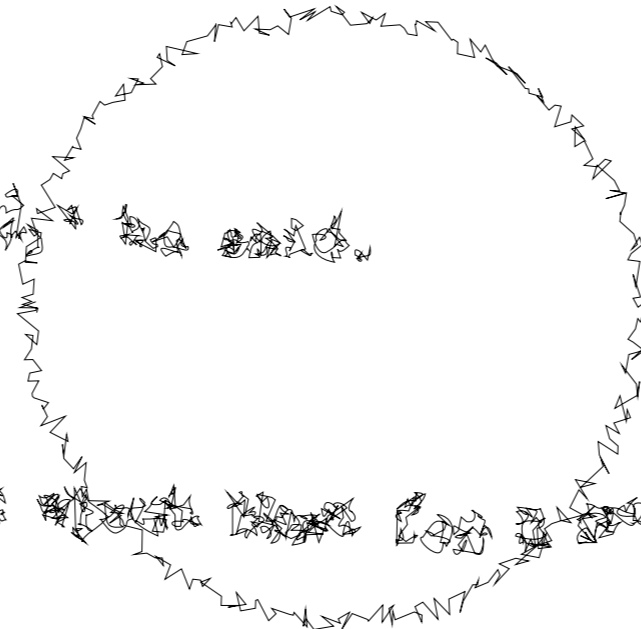

Handwritten text at the top of the page, consisting of several lines of cursive script.

Handwritten text on the left side of the page, consisting of several lines of cursive script.

Handwritten text on the right side of the page, consisting of several lines of cursive script.

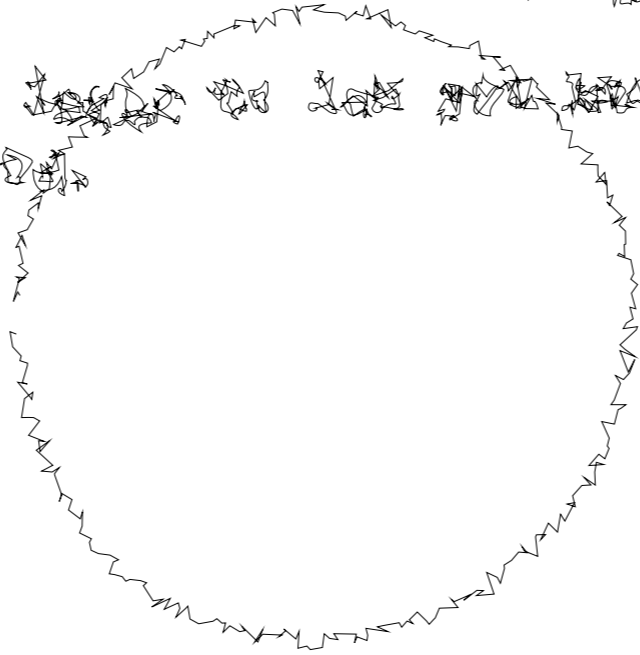

Handwritten text on the left side of the page, consisting of several lines of cursive script.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, consisting of several lines of cursive script.

Handwritten text at the top of the page, consisting of several lines of dense, illegible scribbles.

Handwritten text in the middle section, appearing as a single line of dense, illegible scribbles.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a list or notes, located at the top of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a list or notes, located in the middle of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a list or notes, located at the bottom of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a signature or a name, located at the top of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a signature or a name, located in the middle of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a signature or a name, located at the bottom left of the page.

